Cleanup Week Proclamation

Whereas the time of year has come when Nature puts on her brightest dress and calls upon all good people to set their houses in order; and

Whereas Mother believes it is time to clean house so she can move the furniture again; and

Whereas Dad is being reminded each evening that there is too much trash in the cellar; and

Whereas the appearance of our town will be greatly improved by the co-operation of all citizens in a united effort to remove all unsightly rubbish and trash;

Therefore, I now proclaim the week beginning Monday, May 19, 1930, as "CLEANUP WEEK" and call upon all residents of the Borough to place all ashes, trash, rubbish, etc., where they can be collected by the Highway Department on the regular days appointed.

Given under my hand and seal of the Borough on this ninth day of May, A. D. 1930.

ROBERT M. HUTCHINSON,
Burgess for Boy Week.

Attest:

CHARLES MASON, JR.,
Secretary of Council for Boy Week.

Seeks Renomination

Assemblyman Fred C. Peters, Ardmore, who is a Republican candidate for renomination as representative from the First Legislative District at Tuesday's primaries. He is campaigning on his excellent record in the State legislative body.

Candidates Tell Why They Should Get Vote

Peters and Boyd Urge Retention of Organization Strength at Harrisburg.

Four candidates for State Senator, three for Assemblyman from the first legislative district and one for State Committeewoman addressed a meeting Wednesday night at the Merion War Tribute House sponsored by the Merion League of Women Voters. It was the last public political meeting to be held in this section prior to Tuesday's primaries. Between now and May 20, however, the most intensive work of the campaign is being done by organization and anti-organization workers in the township and county.

Work of Club Year Reviewed in Annual Reports at Final Luncheon at Elm Hall

'Wet' Candidate States Views at Boro Meeting

At a mass meeting held in Elm Hall Tuesday evening two hundred people gathered to hear exponents of the anti-prohibition cause state their case. The meeting was under the auspices of the Narberth Anti-Prohibition Committee, headed by Frank A. Schrepfer, who acted as chairman of the meeting and made the introductory remarks.

Speakers included Francis H. Bohlen, candidate for U. S. Senator, whose extemporaneous speech was very well received; Gail Fischer, secretary of the Crusaders; Mrs. Norman G. Taylor, of Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Claude Bedford, a Republican leader of Delaware County, and George Remington, of Bala-Cynwyd.

Mr. Bohlen touched on the various candidates, stating that his particular platform included an equitable tariff to protect all Pennsylvania industries and not as in the case of his opponent, ones he was personally interested in. That representative government has practically ceased to exist as the result of the organized liquor enforcement laws was made by Mrs. Bedford.

Soloists to Assist

The Main Line Orchestra, under the direction of Adolph Vogel, will be assisted at the next concert, Tuesday evening, May 27, by two soloists; Ethel Dorr McKinley, cellist, and Rosetta Samuel French, pianist.

Rain Ends Drought

Showers on Wednesday brought temporary relief from an abnormally warm and dry week. Temperatures had ranged as high as 20 degrees above normal during the period, according to Charles Decker, Main Line weather observer. Clear days had predominated.

Although the closing luncheon of the Women's Community Club will Narberth, which was held on Tuesday, May 13th, at Elm Hall, was a day of retrospection it is always to the workers on the several committees one of importance, as at this time the chairmen have the opportunity in their yearly reports of giving to the body of the club the record of accomplishment of their various committees.

Among the high spots touched on were the establishment of the Narberth Child Health Center, at whose opening day three children responded, while now there are sixty-three children enrolled; the four Sunday evening Community Services, the funds of the last one being turned over to the Devon relief fund; the co-operation of the Narberth Theatre management for finer pictures; the several classes held in public speaking, current literature, knitting and lamp shade making; contributions to community library; Narberth Hall at Crossnore and many fine charitable contributions.

Junior and Sub-Junior departments showed fine growth, working especially for the blind and the Mary Morris Hamilton scholarship fund. Miss Virginia Steinfeld gave excellent interpretations in her piano solo work.

The matter of selling the Club House lot was voted deferred until fall and a competent committee was voted on to investigate all costs of building a club house. At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors at this time the following were elected to serve for one and two years as directors under the new constitution and by-laws: Mrs. W. R. Green, Mrs. George Suplee, Mrs. C. A. Farmer and Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. T. Somers Newman, Mrs. G. Parker Miller, Mrs. W. Knauer.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. Russell Green, who was serving on jury duty, the meeting was presided over very ably by the first vice-president, Mrs. H. J. Hongler.

A rising vote of thanks was given the hospitality committee, who gave so much of themselves all the year and especially on serving the fine luncheon.

Buy Poppies Here

Poppies, the symbol of honor and respect for the world war dead, will be on sale beginning May 23, by the members of the auxiliary of the Harold D. Speakman Post. The auxiliary will be assisted by the Girl Scouts. The auxiliary especially requests that all Borough residents buy their poppies in Narberth. Miss Edith Hewitt will be in charge of the poppy sale in the Borough.

Motion Picture Benefit

The Welfare Committee of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth gave a successful motion picture benefit four nights this week, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. Charles Shaw was the chairman.

Clever Sleuthing by Lower Merion Police Results in Capture of Narberth Store Thief

Last Saturday night someone broke into the rear of an A. & P. chain store on Haverford Avenue, Narberth, and made his getaway with money and merchandise.

At 2:30 o'clock the following morning, Sergeant Henry Wilson, of the Lower Merion police, arrested "on suspicion" a package-laden individual on Linden Lane, Merion. He had $25 and half a dozen cartons of cigarettes. On their way to police headquarters at Ardmore, in the sergeant's car, his pick-up leaped from the car and pursued by several vain shots made his getaway—without money or merchandise.

"His face was familiar," mused Sergeant Wilson. He told his suspicions to Lieutenant "Patsy" Mullin, than whom there is no sleuther, and the pair did some sleuthing. They found that the sergeant's memory for faces was correct. His man was a former employee of the chain store. His name was Peter Colombi, and his address was 6149 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

At 6 A. M. Monday the sleuths found their man at his home, and Sergeant Wilson identified him as his Merion suspect. Colombi admitted his guilt before Magistrate Thomas W. Cronin, at Ardmore police court, declared his offense was his first, and couldn't explain why he had done it. He was held without bail for court at Norristown.

Awards of Many Prizes for Various Exhibits

Feature Meeting of Country Federation

The Montgomery County Federation of Woman's Club met in the Presbyterian Church of Bryn Mawr, on Thursday, May 8. It was the largest Federation meeting ever held. In the morning session reports of the various committees were read. Mrs. Abram Bunn Ross, president of the Federation, presided; the address of welcome was made by Mrs. Goodwyn M. Davis, president of the Bryn Mawr Club, and Mrs. Richard J. Hamilton, president of the S. E. District, extended greetings to the members.

A novel feature was an exhibition of antiques and handicrafts. Quilts, bedspreads, bags, samplers, oil paintings and dresses of the 18th and 19th centuries were on view. Prize winners in this exhibition were, quilts and bedspreads: Mrs. George Gerenbeck, Bala-Cynwyd Club; Honorable mention: 1, Mrs. G. Dietrich, Schwenksville, Pa. 2, Miss Nellie Rounsville, Everywoman's Club, Glenside; Rugs: won by Mrs. G. F. Coswen, Bryn Mawr Club; Honorable mention: 1, Mrs. John A. Higgons, Bala-Cynwyd; 2, Mrs. H. S. Nester, Ambler; Art Needlework and dresses, Madam Le Brun, Needlepoint Picture won by Mrs. Louis Wirtein, of Bala-Cynwyd Club. Honorable mention: 1, Mrs. G. Dietrich, Schwenksville; 2, Mrs. M. P. Burlingame, Bryn Mawr Club; Handbags: Mrs. William White, of Conshohocken; Honorable mention: Mrs. M. P. Burlingame, of the Bryn Mawr Club; Handwrought Jewelry, won by Mrs. G. F. Coswen, of Bryn Mawr Club; Honorable mention, Pottery, Mrs. D. H. Dager. The judges were Mrs. R. S. Baker, of Whitmarsh, and Mrs. Walter B. Supplee, of Bala.

The art judges were Dr. Georgiana King and Miss M. Moons. The first prize was divided between Tulips and Teapots by Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Bruce Fairman, both of Bala-Cynwyd Club. Second prize, Children playing parchesi, by Mrs. E. Davis, of Bala. Bridge and Ducks, another painting, won honorable mention.

Cooking: 1, sponge cake, Mrs. J. W. Essig; 2, butter cake, Mrs. Goodwyn Davis, of Bryn Mawr; Honorable mention, angel cake, Mrs. Charles Jones, of Conshohocken.

Prizes in the flower show were awarded to the Bryn Mawr Club and the Colony Club of Ambler. Among the Bryn Mawr prize winners were Mrs. J. Henry Longmaid, Mrs. James H. Egan and Mrs. Milton Yerkes.

The increased membership prize was awarded to the Abington Civic Club, and largest attendance at three Federation meetings to the North Wales Civic Club. Press Prize: Best Scrap Book, Ambler and Glenside.

In the afternoon Mrs. John M. Phillips, state chairman of the Home Department gave an inspirational talk. Phillips believes that the salvation of the world depends on the clear-thinking of club women and that the philosophy of life should be love and to have a happy home and love must be taught there. Love of beautiful things and of kind words in the homes does more in the up-bringing of children than anything else. Harsh words and criticisms cause much unhappiness and in the right kind of home there should be no unhappiness.

The Bryn Mawr double quartet, under the direction of Mrs. Frederick Neely, of Rosemont, sang three selections.

Narberth Theatre Notes

All the features of the old-time wild-western films are in "The Desert Rider," which the Narberth Theatre is playing at this Saturday matinee, only. Tim McCoy, well-known cowboy-hero, performs many stunts as the desert rider. And those folks who still are not enthusiastic about "talkies" will find that this picture is silent—except for a competent and thrilling organ accompaniment.

"Chasing Rainbows" is the Narberth Theatre's attraction this Friday and Saturday evenings. It is a talking, singing, dancing comedy, featuring Bessie Love, Charles King and Marie Dressler. In addition, there are two talking comedies—one of them a Mickey Mouse—and the usual Movie-tone News.

Next Monday and Tuesday, Narberth's playhouse is to present the unique and popular sea-epic, "Men Without Women." And on Wednesday and Thursday, Maurice Chevalier will be seen-heard in the tuneful, stirring, brilliant, funny "Love Parade."

Egyptian Theatre News

As if William Haines were not funny enough for "The Girl Said No," the talking comedy playing at the Egyptian Theatre, Cynwyd, this week-end, the producers added to the cast that funny and versatile pair, Polly Moran and Marie Dressler. Leila Hyams is the "no" girl.

Instead of "Jealousy," the film originally scheduled for next Monday and Tuesday, the Egyptian is playing "Framed," a dynamic, dramatic story of the underworld, with Evelyn Brent and Regis Toomey in the cast.

Two unusually vivid, intense and pleasing stories with—what is more unusual—plots and characterizations that are perfect, are to be seen-heard at the Egyptian the last four days of next week. On Wednesday and Thursday the feature will be William Powell's greatest success, "The Street of Chance," a gambling story based on the famous Rothstein murder in New York. On Friday and Saturday a remarkably beautiful and exciting (yes, both!) version of Joseph Conrad's novel, "Victory," will be seen-heard. It is "Dangerous Paradise," a story of South Sea villainy, with Nancy Carol,

Richard Arlen, and five—count them!—villains. The Egyptian's May Horoscope will be seen-heard with "The Street of Chance." With "Dangerous Paradise" next week-end, a Laurel and Hardy talking comedy, "Night Owls," will be co-featured.

Hold Annual Meeting

A cantata "Feather Top," by Seventh Grade girls, is to open the Parent-Teacher meeting on Monday, May 19, at 8 sharp. Following that the annual business meeting and election of officers will take place. A social hour will succeed the business meeting. A perfect attendance with everyone on time is desired.

Primary Election is Tuesday, May 20.

Membership Open for Community Concerts

Membership in the newly organized Community Concert Association of the Main Line will be open to music lovers next week. Headquarters are at the old Merion Title Building, Room 3 where applications may be made by all those interested.

The object of the association is to bring the world's greatest concert and operatic artists to the Main Line each year, without the necessity of underwriting or danger of deficits. This can be done in a simple, practical and economic fashion by literally creating the audience in advance, in the form of a Community Concert Association. The greater the total of members, the bigger and better will be the resulting concerts, for the entire budget resulting from dues will be devoted to the object of securing the finest performers available, with no thought of profit to anyone except the listeners.

Most of the civic and social organizations of the Main Line are co-operating to make a success of the Community Concert Association, with representatives on the Executive Committee or Advisory Council, and with individual membership committees to make sure that everyone on the local club rosters will be personally invited to join the musical group, even though such an invitation is not required.

Old Sarah Balks at Message Bearing

Significance of Legion in Community Burden of Its Story

Not so good was the effort to send dots and dashes a la Morse from the old siren, which was quick to give notice that fire calls are its particular specialty, with no concern nor interest in anything else, and who knows what an energetic generation might impose on it if it could be employed for various and sundry things, assuring no rest nor dignity at all? Some such contemplation it surely was, if we deduce from the groans and snorts which marked the empiricism, and so it soon had to be done with, and only now can the town know the message held in Sarah's buxom bosom, to wit and as follows:

"The American Legion is not merely an organization of men of the World War. To the community at large it should be chiefly significant as a symbol of that life, liberty and pursuit of happiness which constitute the natural rights of man, and of the sacrifices which have been made by all the generations of this America to preserve an exalted national faith, ever mindful of man's destiny and of the freedom with which he is endowed to achieve his eternal end. These men of the Legion have been scorched with the fires of War and they have seen their companions go down into the valley of death. Into their maturity, they bring a vivid experience which shall well equip them to be earnest crusaders in the cause of a noble peace, devoted disciples of universal justice, with a never-ceasing solicitude for their country which shall make it beloved among the nations of the earth.

And whilst you may not have the specific credentials which entitle you to active membership in the American Legion, you do possess the same lofty patriotic spirit which animates this organization, and it is hoped that you shall always be willing, with great good will and nature, to accord reasonable co-operation to the plans which the Legion occasionally proposes to the community as it seeks to make itself of definite and valuable service. The party on May 28th, at the Merion Tribute House, can be made productive of many excellent things.

Surely you are going to go "To the Legion's great big show!" The tickets are out and the returns pour in. If an envelope arrived at your house it is evidence that you are on the list of the elect, folks who have interests which extend beyond their own backyards, always willing to accept their fair share of the good work that is to be done.

Excellent repute, then, is your portion, if you received the tickets, and laurels galore will be your store as your remittance arrives at the bridge address of the Titian-haired Treasurer, who has delegated all other chores to his Adonis associate until the big day thereof.

All of which, of course, pertains to "A Night Over There," at the Merion Tribute House on May 28, 1930, quite the most important thing in this blessed borough for as long as can be quickly remembered.

THE SPECTATOR.

Main Line League Season Opens Saturday

The Main Line League season will be inaugurated on Saturday by four clubs and possibly six. Paoli, making its appearance in the League for the first time in several years, will play at Berwyn and Brookline will oppose Media at the latter's grounds.

The third game hinges upon whether or not a Coatesville team joins the circuit. In the event that it does, a game is scheduled with Narberth on the Borough's field. There is a possibility also that the Narberth field will not be in shape for a game since work was commenced in grooming it on Wednesday.

The Fireside

Mr. and Mrs. L. Parker Miller, 514 Dudley Avenue, spent the week-end at their cottage in Ocean City, New Jersey. Their daughter Dora had as her guests Miss Madeline Cohee, of Narberth, and Miss Helen Lindsay, of Haddonfield.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Bailey, and their son, George R. Bailey, Jr., of Narbrook Park, have just returned from a ten-day motor trip to Hot Springs, Va., and White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. On their return trip they stopped at Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Annie Robertson, of Johnstown, Pa., who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walter J. Scott, of Lantwyn Lane, for the past ten weeks, will return to her home in a few days.

Mrs. F. A. Ford, of North Adams, Mass., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Fenno, of Essex Avenue.

Guest Conductors to Teach Young People's Class

While Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stam are on their trip to California, an "all-star" combination of teachers has been arranged for the Young People's Bible Class of the Narberth Presbyterian Church, in their interesting series of studies in Genesis. On May 18, A. G. Compton, former Superintendent of the Sunday School, will teach the class; on May 25, the Rev. John Van Ness, will be the teacher and Mary Digby will give a report on Ishmael and his descendants.

Miss M. C. Harrison, teacher of the Community Bible Class, will be with the young people on June 1, and the following Sunday, Mrs. C. H. Woolmington, Superintendent of the Primary Department, will give the lesson, assisted by Charles Henry, who will report on Excavations at Sodom.

June 15 promises to be a memorable Sunday when Deacons Jim McCutcheon and Ed Gilfillan, members of the class, will lead a discussion on the topic, "Is a Lie Ever Justifiable?" or perhaps, as substitute, there may be a debate on the prohibition question.

On June 22, Mr. J. H. McClay, last year's Superintendent, will conclude the series, and Florence Schollenberger will report on Isaac, a type of Christ. June 29, when Mr. Stam returns, will be Quiz Sunday.

Rush Chapter, D. A. R., Hears Australian Speaker

Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, D. A. R., held their annual luncheon at Lincoln Court, Overbrook, on Saturday, May 3. Dr. Gifford Gordon, of Australia, was the guest speaker. Subject, "America and Her Leadership." Dr. Gordon spoke most interestingly and enthusiastically of America from the viewpoint of an outsider and his hearers feel that it was a privilege to be an American citizen.

After a few remarks from Mrs. S. Z. Shope, the Honorary Regent of the Chapter, the meeting adjourned. Mrs. Charles M. Irwin, Regent of the chapter, presided.

Library Notes

Those who have in the last few weeks hastened to New York to see "Green Pastures," and even more those who have wished to go, will rejoice in knowing that the Narberth Community Library now has not only the text of the play, but also the book on which it is based, Roark Bradford's "Ole Man Adam an' his Chillin'."

The latter is a series of sketches "of the time when the Lord walked the earth like a natural man," that is, Old Testament stories told by a pious Negro preacher in terms of the experiences of his flock. If it is a bit of a shock to read of the Children of Israel "wukking on the levee" or to see the Lord pictured in the slouch hat and imperial of the traditional "colonel," it is from such incongruities that true comedy arises.

From these sketches and this simple rendering of the old tales Marc Connelly has made a sort of Negro miracle play, wherein the Lord is a very natural man, indeed. The reading of the text is said by those who have seen the play to be a very illuminating supplement to the performance.

FORE AND AFT

Some rambling observations on the tennis matches at Bala and on the Cynwyd Women's Tennis team.

On the beautiful new Davis Cup Court at the Philadelphia Country Club at Bala, on Sunday afternoon, several hundred spectators had the pleasure of watching two of the foremost doubles teams in the world in action.

In four thrilling sets the youthful Wimbledon champions and Uncle Sam's hopes in the Davis Cup doubles this year, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison smashed and volleyed with such power and accuracy that all the technique and finesse of R. Norris Williams and Vincent Richards was of no avail.

It was in 1926 that Williams and Richards repulsed the French in straight sets in the Davis Cup doubles match on the greensward of the Germantown Cricket Club. At that time they were hailed as the greatest doubles team in the world.

It would appear that Vincent Richards no longer gets the type of competition in professional tennis to keep his game up to the point which he reached in the past. In his last appearance in the Davis Cup matches in 1926, there was much conjecture as to how he would stack up against the French volleyer par excellence, Jean Borotra. His reputation was secure at the conclusion of that match, in which it was the Americans who made the rapier like volleys.

Sunday it was a somewhat different story. There was brilliant play on both sides of the net at times, but the majority of the dazzling shots came from the racquets of Van Ryn and Allison.

R. Norris Williams, who was National Singles Champion back in 1914, he being the man who dethroned the great McLoughlin, demonstrated that he is still one of the best doubles players in the world. Never at his best in singles because of his unsteady ground strokes, Williams has always shone in doubles, where the volley, service and smash play such a large part. His playing Sunday showed that his racquet has lost none of its cunning.

In another practice match following the doubles, George Lott took the measure of J. Gilbert Hall, 10-8, 6-3. That man Hall is no set-up for anyone, and his fast twisting service and hard forehand drives gave Lott plenty of trouble. In fact George was in hot water most of the first set, which was equal in length to two ordinary sets. In going after one of Lott's shots Hall gave evidence of acrobatic ability of no mean quality. He was running to the side of the court and unable to stop at the wire, did a handspring over the iron fence, balancing on his hands for an instant and landing on his feet amid the plaudits of the gathering.

Yes, the outlook for Uncle Sam this week-end when these youngsters entertain the Canadians in the Davis Cup matches is promising.

A great deal of credit belongs to the Cynwyd Women's Tennis team who finished the strenuous round of matches of the Inter-Club league in a tie for first place with the Merion Cricket Club second team. The Cynwyd team, composed chiefly of girls not out of their teens and still at school, has shown remarkable development and more fine things can be expected of them in the future.

The playoff of the championship was scheduled for Wednesday, but rain interfered, so that it will have to be decided at a later date.

Let the Good Work Continue

This paper unqualifiedly indorses the candidacies of Joseph R. Grundy for nomination for United States Senator and of Fred C. Peters for assemblyman from this district. We urge all Republicans to vote for these men for the reason that both are best fitted to represent their constituents in the respective legislative bodies.

We are selfish about Mr. Grundy. While his opponents are men of high attainments and ability, they do not have the interests of industry, commerce and prosperity so indelibly stamped in their makeup as does the present Senator. Mr. Grundy is a doer of things that benefit Pennsylvania and Pennsylvanians and we are for the man who will aid the State most from an economic standpoint.

The statement made in this paper about Mr. Peters several weeks ago may well be repeated. It was a quotation as follows: "Assemblyman Fred C. Peters . . . is a neighbor, highly respected citizen of the community, is doing a good job and should be permitted to continue it." Among his most notable achievements in office was his work in revising and simplifying the laws governing townships.

Tersely with regard to Mr. Grundy and Mr. Peters it might be said: Let the good work continue.

In the State Senate contest Republican voters are given a choice of supporting one of three candidates: James S. Boyd, Benjamin H. Ludlow or Burd P. Evans. The county organization is anxious to return Mr. Boyd to the upper State body to keep its legislative power intact, arguing that more benefits accrue to Montgomery county boroughs and townships if there is complete harmony and united strength in the ranks of its representatives.

Mr. Ludlow, on the other hand, contends that this "harmony" is not so beneficial except to keep organization candidates in office. He is running strictly as an independent although backed by both the Brown-Davis and the Pinchot county committees. He is an advocate of various welfare measures and seeks to curtail the organized leadership in county Republican ranks.

Incidentally, the "wet" State ticket is an interesting experiment. There is no chance of any of their candidates being nominated and they know it, but supporters of the movement are desirous of learning how much anti-Prohibition sentiment there is in the State, and will consider the time and money well spent if their vote is high enough to give them a moral victory.

An Innovation in Merchandising

Strawbridge and Clothier opened its Main Line branch store on Monday, and eleven thousand persons came, saw and marveled. It was somewhat different than any picture of their imagination. Although by far the most pretentious mercantile establishment of the Main Line, the new store is not too large to have an individuality and atmosphere of its own.

On visiting the store on its opening day one felt a warmth and glow and cordiality that was natural and unforced. Exclusive? Indeed, yes. But with a welcome and hospitable courtesy that was unmistakable. The regular store policy has much to do with the creation of this atmosphere, the lighting helps it to a great degree, but in addition an intangible something seems to have been caught that makes this store so typically of the Main Line.

Cleanup Week

A proclamation has been issued by the Burgess of Boy Week, Robert M. Hutchinson, setting Cleanup Week for the week of May 19. This proclamation has the same validity as one issued by Mr. Frye and should be followed out by all good citizens.

A thorough overhauling of attics, cellars and back yards should be made and all rubbish, tin cans and waste material of every kind should be collected and placed in receptacles on the sidewalk. This rubbish will be collected and hauled away at the expense of the borough.

This is an opportunity for every citizen not only to show his personal pride, but also his civic pride, and we should all endeavor to make it such. No community is attractive if it is littered up.

JESS—IN FUN

After scanning and reviewing some thirty-odd suggestions for a title for this column, it has been decided that Jess wins the fiver with his original entry. Several others were good but they didn't just quite click. Thanks for the interest and may you continue to join with Jess in fun.—The Editor.

Your Uncle Cy last week suggested that this column be named "Off Again—On Again." In view of that gent's particular and peculiar brand of horse-manship, I feel that the name would far more appropriately have been attached to the column which he used to write. And my discerning eye notes that his horsier column was headed "From the Saddle" rather than "In the Saddle," from which you may draw your own conclusions. Anyway, the Uncle's suggestion is voted down unanimously to the accompaniment of boos and jeers. He emphatically does not get the fiver. And if he doesn't hurry up and pay Miss Evans her luncheon, I shall invite Comrade Caraway's gossip and sewing circle down at Washington to investigate the identity, present occupation and past indiscretions of Uncle Cy. In the future your publisher, pious and considerate man that he is, will charge advertising rates for the publication of any further diatribes against your present columnist.

Spring Fever

Along about now New Car Fever sets in. The old bus seems noisy and ragged and temperamental. It runs as if there were powdered emery in the oil. And anybody knows that the only thing worse for an automobile than a bit of powdered emery in the oil is a bit of powdered blonde in the driver's seat. Spring always brings an ardent desire for a new car, but never the wherewithal topurchase it. Dealers are overwhelmed with orders. Consequently, it takes an extraordinary amount of urging to persuade them to consider the old boat as a trade-in; and even then the difference between the trade-in valuation and the cost of the new car looks like the British war debt or Andy Mellon's income tax refund. And the new cars! Front drives, sixteen cylinders, built-in radios, two extra wheels in the fenderwells! The nobbiest and snobbiest new lines in years! Poor old Senator (my car, noisy, unreliable and expensive) squeaks and screams in embarrassment as the shiny Sunday parade moves majestically along Montgomery Pike. Yet the business depression (repression, if you happen to have a radio) continues, and the old Senator has another year of private service before the cab drivers get him. If any of our local politicians are interested, I have a corking good campaign slogan. And it would be a popular platform too. What this country really needs is a good five cent car!

The Political Sitchuation

It's a mess. I have received no circulars from the Senatorial and Gubernatorial candidates. Jimmie and Frankie and Uncle Joe have not come to my house to kiss babies. Of course we have no babies anyway, but they might have come around. There's been no free coal put in my cellar. Not a single direct attempt has been made to get my vote. Don't these candidates know that Pennsylvania elections are corrupt? Whatthehell do they think this is, a Sunday school picnic? I guess my vote is worth as much as anybody's. And you may write me down for a left-handed son of a tabloid editor if I vote for any man who doesn't spend a single solitary cent in trying for my vote.—JESS A. LITTLEKISS.

To Entertain Men's Club

Charles Edward Stange, rare in humor and satire, will be the entertainer at the Men's Club of the Methodist Church on Thursday, May 22, at 8 o'clock. The program will include songs and refreshments. All men of the town are invited.

National R. R. Association

Walton M. Wentz, of Narberth, editor of the Pennsylvania News, the official publication of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was elected president of the American Railroad Magazine Editors' Association for 1931 at Kansas City last week. Mr. Wentz returned to the Borough on Friday.

The Association is made up of forty-seven railroads of the United States. Their publications have a circulation among one and a half million railroad employees and others. This national organization will meet in Philadelphia in 1931.

Juniors vs. Jefferson

The Narberth Juniors opened their season with Jefferson last Thursday. Though beaten 9 to 4, the Juniors were in battle every minute and kept the larger rivals worried.

The Juniors play every Tuesday and Thursday night at the playground and would be pleased to see more of Narberth's baseball fans out to root, because, after all, the Juniors are the future Narberth team.

Show Lighting Developments at Chamber Luncheon

An illustrated survey of modern methods of store and window illumination was made at the luncheon meeting of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce, held Tuesday May 6, at the Masonic Building, Ardmore, by A. L. Powell, illuminating engineer of the Edison Lamp Works, Harrison, N. J.

Many striking developments in lighting, particularly in Europe, or built-in fixtures and modern art designing, were shown and described.

"While we cannot conclusively prove that greater use of light in stores and windows will increase sales because of the great number of factors involved, it has been generally found that such is the case," Mr. Powell declared.

The date of the annual banquet of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce has been changed to Wednesday, May 21.

Foreign Features to Enliven Circus Days

One need not be young in body to have felt a real thrill of pleasure when the announcement was made that the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus is to exhibit its thousand and one wonders in this section. For at once youngsters of all ages became young at heart and it was glorious news to all.

The only five-ring circus in the world with a "big top" or main tent seating more than 16,000 persons will this year offer more new and startling features than ever before.

Foremost among these is the weird Ubangi tribe of men and women savages from Africa's largest regions who will appear for the first time in any civilized land. No people like these have ever before been seen by the average white man or woman and their appearance has been the signal for interest on the part of great scientists.

Albert Powell, a sensation of the circuses of Europe during the past winter, is to be seen here with the Big Show. And countless other European novelties have been brought to make of this the greatest circus season in history.

Hugo Zacchini, the Human Projectile, fired bodily from a cannon at each performance, will play a return engagement by popular demand and the distance over which he is hurled has been lengthened.

The menagerie of the Ringling-Barnum circus is the largest traveling zoo in the world and contains 1009 rare animals while with the circus there are also 700 horses, beautiful and sleek in appearance at all times.

Forty-three giant and baby elephants appear in the Big Show. There are 26 camels and an equal number of zebras. These are but a few of the wonders to be seen when The Greatest Show on Earth exhibits in Philadelphia at Eleventh Street and Erie Avenue for six days, beginning Monday, May 19, and at Sixty-ninth Street at Marshall Road for three days, beginning Monday, May 26.

BENNETT E. TOUSLEY, Manager

Honor Maroon Team at Surprise Banquet; Players Receive Initialed Sweaters

By Tommy Macklin

Dr. William L. Martin shot the winning basket in this business of a banquet for the Lower Merion High School basketball team, by putting over the long looked for celebration with a quiet but effective "Bang" Thursday, May 1.

The affair was held at Green Hill Farms at City Line and Lancaster Pike. Although the celebrants were few, they were very purposeful in their efforts to show the boys on the squad that they were there to do them sincere honor for the manner in which the members brought fame and glory to the old home town the past season.

A splendid dinner was served at a round-table at one end of the large dining salon overlooking a broad expanse of green lawn already covered with the early flowers of springtime. Excellent music from a violin added beauty to the occasion, and there was a dignity to the whole affair which will leave a more lasting impression upon the boys than any noisy demonstration could possibly do.

Everett E. Burlingame, ringleader with Dr. Martin in promoting the banquet, acted as referee, or toastmaster, and he did full justice to his office. Not a single decision was questioned during the evening. Mr. Burlingame made some opening remarks, and then asked Superintendent S. E. Downs to present a beautiful white sweater with the initials L. M. in maroon to each member of the team, including Frank Mantz, manager of the squad and scorekeeper extraordinary. After Mr. Downs' presentations each member of the team made a short talk.

Coach William L. Anderson was presented with a beautiful wrist watch as a gift from the men and boys present. Warren Lockwood made the presentation. An unusual feature of this banquet was the fact that every man and boy present was given the opportunity to make a speech. Not one failed in this line of duty and many of the outstanding events of the basketball season were lived over again.

Role Villanova Plays in Community Life Told As Main Line Aids in Fund Campaign

Philip A. Hart, Bryn Mawr banker, who is chairman of the Main Line Committee in Villanova College's campaign to raise a fund of $2,300,000 for expansion purposes.

Co-operation of the Main Line in Villanova College's efforts to obtain the sum of $2,300,000 for expansion and scholarship purposes was enlisted Wednesday, April 30th, when a group of business and professional men from this section were guests of the Augustinian fathers at a dinner.

The increasing part Villanova College plays in community events was ably told by the Rev. James H. Griffin, president of the institution. The college's athletic fields for some time have been used at a nominal cost by various organizations in this section and the privileges of the contemplated gymnasium-auditorium and swimming pool would be extended for community use, according to Dr. Griffin. He said that probably many future Lower Merion-Radnor football games would be played in the college stadium. Dr. Griffin welcomed the growing co-operation between the Main Line and the college.

Other speakers, introduced by Philip A. Hart, Bryn Mawr banker, who presided, were M. P. Burlingame, Bryn Mawr; the Rev. Joseph A. Bartley, dean of the School of Commerce and Finance; and the Rev. Thomas B. Austin.

Through moving pictures and the speakers, the history and growth of Villanova was told up to the disastrous $1,000,000 fire of 1928. Since 1855 the college enrollment has increased from 86 students to more than 900 with the number of youth seeking higher education at Villanova increasing yearly.

The $2,300,000 fund is needed for the following purposes: New library building, $175,000; new commerce and finance building, $200,000; new gymnasium-auditorium, $200,000; endowment fund, $800,000; scholarship loans, $500,000; swimming pool, $100,000; dormitory, $175,000; dining hall, $150,000.

The architectural motif for the new group of buildings is copied from the group of historical structures in Independence Square, Philadelphia. At present more than 10 per cent. of Villanova's student body are non-Catholic and the college's doors are open to all regardless of creed.

Philip A. Hart, president of the Bryn Mawr Trust Company, and the only lay member of Villanova's Board of Trustees, is chairman of the Main Line committee. The Rev. Joseph A. Bartley, O. S. A., dean of the School of Commerce and Finance, represents the college on the committee.

Japanese Beetle Control Advice Given Community

Shade trees and ornamentals may be protected from Japanese beetle damage if they are carefully sprayed with coated arsenate of lead when the beetle begins to make its appearance. In former years the first week in July has proved the most ideal time. However, it is essential that definite spraying arrangements be made at once. Communities or individuals who plan to have one of the commercial sprayers do their work should contract now for their spraying. While there are several commercial sprayers with adequate machinery in the Philadelphia area, there will be a tremendous demand for them about July first.

Coated arsenate of lead applied at the rate of 8 pounds in 100 gallons of water will poison beetles that feed upon it, and at the same time protect plant foliage from any serious injury. The above formula was used by the Pennsylvania State College Extension Service last year in all their demonstration work, and was found very effective. In the application of the material high pressure gives the best results. Hand sprayers are excellent for trees under eight feet in height, and for shrubs. Trees from eight to thirty feet must be sprayed with a pump having a capacity of ten to fifteen gallons per minute, while for trees over thirty feet in height the pump rating must be at least twenty gallons per minute.

Educational meetings are now being held in many suburban communities by Charles K. Hallowell, Philadelphia Extension representative, 247 South Juniper Street, to inform tree owners the species of plant life attacked by the beetle and the method of spraying for efficient control.

The following trees and shrubs should be sprayed: Willow, Linden, Horse Chestnut, Rose, Virginia Creeper, Grape, Canna, Aster, Hollyhock, Elm, Sassafras, Ivy, Buckeye, Raspberry, Hibiscus, Lombardy Poplar, Ornamental Cherry, Ornamental Plum, Hawthorn, Norway Maple, Birch, Chestnut Oak, Japanese Maple, Pin Oak, Sycamore, Flowering Quince, Spiraea, Larch.

Receive Tree Memorial

Haverford College has received a gift of a memorial planting of trees and shrubs in memory of William Henry Sykes, 2nd, '29, who lost his life by drowning a few weeks after graduation last June. Sykes was a prominent athlete at Haverford, holding the college record and the Middle Atlantic States title in the low hurdles.

Main Line Repertory Giving Final Plays

"You and I," the concluding play of the Main Line Repertory season presented on Wednesday evening at the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd, will be repeated on the nights of May 16 and 17 for the Barnstormers of Ridley Park.

The scene of the Philip Barry comedy is laid in the country home of Maitland White, whose aspirations to be an artist have had to be conquered by the economic necessity of providing for a wife and children. The plot deals with his son, Roderick, and his longing to be an architect and his love for Veronica Duane.

The part of Veronica Duane was played by Lisel Boericke Wednesday evening, but owing to Miss Boericke's absence after May 10, when she is sailing for Russia to study the Russian drama, Eugenia Pleasanton will play the part at the performances for the Barnstormers.

Staats Cotsworth, who appeared as Maitland White, gave an outstanding performance. His wife, Nancy, was played by Christine Shillard-Smith. His son Roderick was played by John Faunce, 4th, while Jay Bennett Colesberry took the part of G. T. Warren, the business man who induces Roderick to give up his architecture and enter the soap business.

Membership Open Soon For Concert Association

Membership in the newly-formed Community Concert Association of Main Line will be open to all music-lovers for one week's time, beginning Monday, May 19. No tickets will be sold at the door, and admission to the concerts will be open only to those securing memberships in advance.

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, of New York, popular writer and speaker on music, will address various local organizations on May 20 and May 21 in behalf of the Concert Association.

Look Before You Leap, Republicans! Your Vote Can Make For Weal Or Woe!

Line up the respective candidates. Without bias or prejudice, examine what their place has been in the world about us. Do they seek their own selfish ends or are they sincerely solicitous for the peace, welfare and progress of their generation? What does the record show? Are they evasive or elusive, skillfully scheming their personal advancement, or are they sound and straightforward, chiefly concerned in rendering exemplary public service? Put them all under the microscope. Draw on your own knowledge and experience for accurate conclusions. Your ballot is too precious to waste. American citizenship is no meager thing. It must be protected against the trickery of professional politicians and "holier-than-thou" causes. This advertisement is in behalf of the Temperance Ticket. The primaries present a golden opportunity. It would be a terrible pity if it were not utilized.

And don't let us be so supine, so completely distressed, as to believe that nothing can be done about the sorry situation which confronts the land. This country can only be like that when you agree to make it so. Get out and vote—it is your privilege—and your duty—to yourself and to your fellow-Americans. You want to be served, not swindled—and the kind of swindling which impairs the moral fibre of the nation is far more reprehensible than tapping the public till. This is the time your vote will count with a great big bang. Go to it!

Here they are—look them over—apply the yardstick of a broad humanity, well-grounded fundamentals, advanced intelligence, unfeigned charity, a patriotic solicitude which transcends mere personal ambition. The man who puts himself before his country's cause is not fit for public service. Bore into their careers, turn up their talents, and make sure that you are not going to be cheated once again.

DAVIS (U. S. Senator): Selected by Vares organization. Davis first wanted to be Governor. He has been building his fences for years. Secretary of Labor in several national administrations. Unemployment crisis disclosed nominal value of his department. He cannot be accepted seriously as a social or economic student. On the stump he confines himself to platitudes and self-laudation, avoiding all controversial questions. Revealed as a man who burns with personal ambitions and gives no evidence of any real knowledge of important issues. It is even claimed he has no authentic Pennsylvania residence. If suit based on this claim succeeds he will not be able to vote. The only Pennsylvania address he gives is the clubhouse of a fraternal order in the Western part of the State. Senator Reed is from Pittsburgh. Balanced representation requires a man from Philadelphia district. Davis will get few votes on his own merits. He is a professional in every respect.

GRUNDY (U. S. Senator): A good, square man who has been left at the post as a new world moved away from him. A sincere advocate of Industrial Progress, but not disposed to give much consideration to the other elements which make for national stability. A practical exponent of back-stage politics, an apt student of Penrose, and likes to control every situation. He will be a standpatter until doomsday. Does not seem to belong in the vigorous times ahead, as his Toryism is quite intense and the machine always seems more important in his eye than the man. Thoroughly honest, capable after his own convictions, and probably only seeks the office because somebody wants to take it away from him. Many times the superior of Davis, but hardly the man for the most epochal era of our national life which is now looming up. Says he is a "dry" because that is the position of his party on the question. He apparently does not read the Literary Digest.

PINCHOT (Governor): A confirmed demagogue. Charged with the chief accountability of the Snyder Act, probably the most outrageous piece of legislation in American annals, far exceeding the Volstead law in its inherent injustice. Gets into the limelight at every possible opportunity. Seeks public office, first one thing and then another, for the sake of "having the time of his life." For the same purpose, he sets sail, in splurge-fashion, to the South Sea Islands and other remote places, making sure the newspapers know all about it. Shoots out a new promise with every speech. Supports many excellent things, but wholly lacks personal qualities necessary for effective administration and permanent progress. Would rather kill than cure. Vociferously declaims in behalf of a common people he simply does not know. The Snyder Act showed his real conception of the American household. Has lots of money and an unstinted disposition to spend it in his own behalf. The one term he has had as Governor would seem to be just about enough for this gentleman.

BROWN (Governor): A solid lawyer type, always actively identified with the Vares. Now seeking to fulfill a long-standing ambition. More than 70 years old, but still going strong. Makes a poor showing on the stump, but a much better one in the court room. Has declared for a referendum, which, Clinton W. Gilbert says, is the ruse adopted by all the dodgers throughout the country. The evasion would appear to be beneath Brown's maturity and standing. It is unthinkable that any worthy candidate fails to possess deep-seated personal convictions on the liquor question. He is either for or against a change. The straddler gives notice that he is willing to win at any cost. Brown's prestige has diminished appreciably because he lacked the courage to face the issue in four-square fashion. His attitude can only be described as a nasty piece of political expediency. Standing for everything, he stands for nothing. The so-called "wet" will NOT vote for him.

BOHLEN (U. S. Senator): A plain man of real intellectual substance. Lives on Main Line and is senior professor of law at University of Pennsylvania. Many academic and other honors accorded him as a result of outstanding achievements. Aggressive mentality and a refreshing voice in public affairs. Had most to do with present law for workmen's compensation. His platform is a model for political declarations. Close student of men and things, trained and tolerant, the kind who is fortified with the facts before he acts. Has made a splendid impression as a candidate and leaves no doubt as to where he stands on liquor question and why he stands there. He ought to be drafted into public service. A stalwart Republican and the type of advanced mind which can do a great deal in bowling over mediocrity in the high places of the nation. Liberals will vote for him en masse.

PHILLIPS (Governor): A dyed-in-the-wool disciple of human rights and liberties. He has done big things in a commercial way, has served in Congress, and has no opposition where he is known best. A fine type of kindly, self-effacing man who has signally demonstrated he is more interested in the cause he proclaims than he is in his personal aggrandizement. A square-shooter, scornful of hypocrisy and simply will not believe that human nature has fallen so low that only tyrannous and oppressive laws can rescue it. He gave Brown a fair chance to be straightforward, but the Organization man could not be persuaded. Phillips at Harrisburg would mean much to Pennsylvania. Read his speeches, his magazine articles; discern his clear note of honest-to-goodness humanity. Those who want liquor reform are strong for Phillips and his campaign is attracting nation-wide attention. If you believe in Temperance, you will vote for him.

Vote for Prohibition Reform—

Vote for the Men Who Can Serve You Best—

Vote for Francis S. Bohlen for U. S. Senator—

Vote for Thomas W. Phillips for Governor—

And Don't Forget—

A vote for a "dry" candidate or a straddler is a vote in favor of illicit liquor.

The "Playboy" Moccasin for BOYS a special value $5.00

He ought to have a pair of sport shoes for summer. But there's no need to increase the family shoe bill one bit. Get him a pair of Playboy Moccasins. They'll wear as well as any regular street shoe . . . but they'll look smarter all the while . . . at school, play . . . or with one's Sunday best. Built of brown tan calf, combined with smoked elk, with heel and sole of strong gristle rubber. A really special value at $5.

"WATCH THE BIRDIE"

You well remember this command, as the photographer peered from under his black hood and told you to "smile please." It is much more pleasant to watch the real birds keep house in one of our attractive cottages. To be sure they haven't many rooms, nor a tile bath, but the cost is moderate, and we have the Cedar poles on which to mount them.

Let us send you a nicely packed carton containing three types of houses. More pretentious rustic summer houses for the humans are also a part of our stock, or can be built to suit the individual taste.

Be sure to visit the display of out-door articles in our GARDEN at Twenty-five Bala Avenue.

There are still some souvenirs for any adult presenting this advertisement.

♦♦♦ A NEW AND FASTER TELEPHONE SERVICE

A new and faster telephone service now safeguards Lower Merion Township homes from fire hazards.

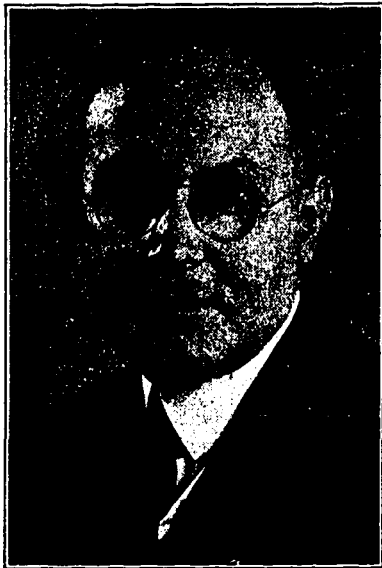

If fire breaks out, simply ask the operator for "2-0." Immediately you will be connected with the new forty-line "fire switchboard" at Township Hall, where an officer will be on constant duty.

Tell the officer the location of the fire. He will dispatch the nearest fire fighters to the scene of the blaze.

This fast service applies to all residents of Ardmore, Bryn Mawr, Cynwyd, Havertford, Merion and Narberth. There is no charge for emergency telephone calls.

Dr. Spaeth to Speak at Chamber Banquet

Address on Music and Many
Prizes to Feature Event
May 21

The twelfth annual banquet of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce is going to be the best of any that have preceded it, according to the Banquet Committee, which has functioned at all of the preceding banquets. It will be held Wednesday, May 21, at the Brookline Square Club.

The entertainment features which have always characterized Ardmore Chamber banquets will be looked after with the same degree of care and discrimination as in the past. If anything, according to the committee, the entertainment will be of a higher class than heretofore. One of the features will be the appearance of Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, who will give an interpretative talk on the "Common Sense of Music." Dr. Spaeth is much in demand at service club conventions and the like all over the East. He will speak at a joint meeting of the Women's Clubs of the Main Line on Tuesday afternoon, May 20. On Tuesday night he will address the Main Line Kiwanis Club, after which he will speak before the annual ladies' night of the Philadelphia Rotary Club. Then on Wednesday night he will appear on the Ardmore Chamber's entertainment program at the Brookline Square Club.

Tickets can be had at the following places: Ardmore Chamber of Commerce, McIntyre's, Merion Title & Trust Company, Ardmore Title & Trust Company, Counties Title &

Trust Company, Edward Powers, William S. Casey, Ralph E. Springer, Primrose Flower Shop, Ardmore Fruit Company, Colonial Fruit and Quality Fruit Market.

AUTOMATIC AND MAGAZINE HEATERS

For successful operation, magazine fed heaters, blowers, and automatic stokers require a coal with four principal qualities: uniform sizing, low ash yield and freedom from clinkers.

Uniform sizing permits uniform operation; clean preparation aids operation by reducing dirt; low ash yield means less work and dirt in ash removal; freedom from clinkers allows smooth running without the danger of stoppage and breakage of mechanical parts—all four of which are necessary if you are to get continuously satisfactory heat from your furnace.

Manufacturers' tests and the experience of many householders over a considerable period of years, have proved that Jeddo-Highland is the ideal fuel for the successful operation of these types of heating equipment.

Games in Cynwyd and

STITES IS THE PRESIDENT

Four new baseball teams, composed of Lower Merion and Narberth police and firemen, are scheduled to play their first twilight games May 20 and 23. They are the Lower Merion-Narberth police, the Narberth Fire Company, the Union Fire Company of Cynwyd, and the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore—members of the Police and Fire League of Lower Merion and Narberth.

The new league was organized Tuesday May 6, at Narberth's fire hall with the following officers: President, former State Senator Fletcher W. Stites, of Narberth; vice presidents, William G. Frankenfield, Ardmore, and Walter Clarkson Neely, Cynwyd; secretary, Reginald Tyson, Cynwyd; treasurer, Lt. Clarence Duke, of Lower Merion police.

In new uniforms now being secured, the four teams will compete in two half-season contests; the winner of a play-off between teams winning both halves will receive a silver cup donated by Mr. Stites, president of the league. At Tuesday's meeting it was decided that players must be active members of the fire companies or police force in order to be eligible to play.

The twilight games will be played Tuesdays at the Cynwyd School's large playground, and Fridays at Narberth's Community Playground and ball park. Tuesday, May 20, Ardmore's firemen will play Cynwyd's on the Cynwyd diamond, and on Friday, May 23, the police will play Narberth's firemen on the borough diamond.

Managers of the teams are: Fred Walzer, Lower Merion-Narberth police; William Newbourg, Narberth Fire Company; Grover C. Thompson, Union Fire Company, of Cynwyd, and Ike Boyd, Merion Fire Company, of Ardmore.

The police team is an outgrowth of a permanent sports association organized last Saturday by the police department here, with the following as officers: Superintendent Charles P.

Smith, president; Lt. "Patsy" Mullin, vice president; Reginald Tyson, secretary; William T. McIntyre, treasurer.

New Telephone Directories Distributed, Include Many Changes of Interest

Distribution of the spring issue of the telephone directory for the Main Line and adjacent territory was begun on Monday of last week. It was expected to complete the job in three days.

The new Main Line community, Penn Valley, makes its debut in the phone book with this issue. The listing for residents of this section is in the address, there being no change in exchange for the telephones in the new community.

Other important changes are connected with fire and police listings. The universal fire call for Lower Merion Township and Narberth, upon the completion of the installation of the central alarm system, will be 20, prefixed by the exchange from which the call is made. This will be to the fire switchboard located in the Township Building, Ardmore.

The new police number, Ardmore 4200, supersedes the old call, Ardmore 20, now the fire number. The number of the Township Building has also been changed to Ardmore 3700.

A Merion man, Frank P. Zurn, has the distinction of occupying the cellar position in the new directory.

A new listing of interest is the Main Line store of Strawbridge & Clothier, scheduled to open next week, Ardmore 4000.

A page which fires the imagination is one in the front of the new local directory calling attention to international telephone service. According to this announcement one may be connected from one's own telephone with any point in Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, England, Germany, Holland, Scotland, Spain, Switzerland and Wales and to many important cities of Denmark, Finland, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, etc., by merely calling long distance.

Attention is also called to "Ship-to-Shore" service from one's telephone to the Majestic or Leviathan on all incoming and outgoing trips when these ships are within range.

According to statistics from the Bell Telephone Company, the new directories for the eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware territory, if stacked in a single pile, would extend seven and a half miles in the air, almost twice as high as the highest mountain in the world. The pages if placed end to end would stretch for over 25,000 miles. The sheets used would cover an area of nearly 10,000 acres. Sixty-five employees of the Bell Company are employed the year round in attending to changes and revisions of the directories.

Big Five-Ring Circus Coming to Philadelphia

It's actually coming. There is but one really great circus. And therefore it was good news which was today received that Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth will soon visit this section—with all its myriad of wonders.

The first advance advertising car heralding the appearance of the colossal amusement organization is now in this territory and its gaily-colored posters and lithographs blazon forth the news throughout the countryside.

Coming on its own four trains of 100 double-length railroad cars, carrying its entire complement of 1680 persons and 1700 animals, the great Ringling-Barnum combined circus will exhibit more new features this year than ever before in its history, including an entire tribe of Ubangi men and women from the remote jungles of Africa, a region in which few white men have ever set foot. These primitive savages with mouths and lips as large as those of full-grown crocodiles will appear as a feature of the main performance, and not as a separate attraction. And there will be a return engagement, by popular demand, of Hugo Zacchini, the Human Projectile, who is now fired bodily from a cannon in more terrific and longer flights than last season.

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus with its multitude of marvels brought from the four corners of the earth will exhibit in Philadelphia at Eleventh and Erie Avenue for six days, beginning Monday, May 19, and at Sixty-ninth Street at Marshall Road for three days, beginning Monday, May 26.

VOTING ADVICE GIVEN

MRS. H. T. BROWN, JR.

Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Jr., of Haverford, wife of the dean of Haverford College and daughter of Governor Fisher, was re-elected president of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women at a meeting held Monday, May 5, at the Township Building, Ardmore.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Mrs. Leroy Douglass, of Narberth; second vice-president, Mrs. T. W. Hammond, of Bryn Mawr; third vice-president, Mrs. Morris Green, of Ardmore, fourth vice-president, Mrs. Theodore E. Benade, of Cynwyd; recording secretary, Mrs. J. F. Scull, of Cynwyd; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. T. Leedom, of Ardmore, and treasurer, Miss Margaret Brusstar, of Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. Morris Green, advised the women to think deeply before voting in the Primaries and said that "as a Council this body is not backing any particular candidate of the Republican party. It is up to each and every one of you to think as individuals and to work as individuals in this important election as there are three candidates in the State Senatorial race."

Mrs. Theodore E. Benade was appointed by the Council to send the resolutions adopted by the Council at the convention in Harrisburg last fall to the various candidates to report upon. Miss Marion Colladay, of York Lynn Manor, was appointed the new chairman of publicity. Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Jr., presided at the meeting.

in Three-Story Store at Eighth and Market

EXPANSION CONTINUOUS

The establishment of Strawbridge & Clothier, originally a small three-story store at the northwest corner of Market and Eighth Streets, has continued for a longer period of time in one location and under one name, than any other large Philadelphia retail store.

The store was opened with a stock of dry goods in 1862, by Justus C. Strawbridge. Isaac H. Clothier joined him in the partnership of Strawbridge & Clothier in 1868. Both were members of the Society of Friends.

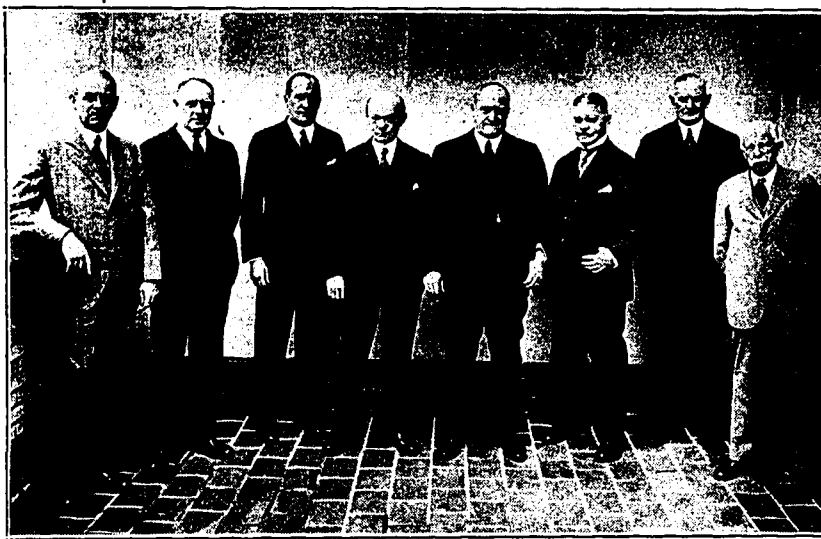

Isaac H. Clothier retired from the firm in 1905, whereupon Edward R. Strawbridge and Morris L. Clothier, sons of the founders, became partners in the business. Justus C. Strawbridge retired in 1900, at which time his sons, Frederic H. Strawbridge and Robert E. Strawbridge, were admitted as members of the firm. Isaac H. Clothier, Jr., became a member in 1903, and Francis R. Strawbridge in 1908. E. R. Strawbridge having died in 1903, the business was owned and controlled by M. L. Clothier, F. H. Strawbridge, R. E. Strawbridge, Isaac H. Clothier, Jr., and F. R. Strawbridge from 1908 until Herbert J. Tily, who had been general manager since 1905, became a member of the firm in 1918.

Upon the incorporation of the business in 1922, the six members of the firm became directors and Morris L. Clothier was elected president. In 1927 the number of directors was increased to nine. The present officers and directors are as follows: Morris L. Clothier, Chairman of the Board; Herbert J. Tily, President and General Manager; Isaac H. Clothier, Jr., Vice-President; Robert E. Strawbridge, Vice-President; Howard Cooper Johnson, Vice-President and Treasurer; John Jackson, Secretary and General Superintendent; Frederic H. Strawbridge, Director; Francis R. Strawbridge, Director; and George K. Bartle, Director.

The record of Strawbridge & Clothier's early activities reveals a spirit of progressive enterprise equaled by few, if any, of their contemporaries, and their entire history is a continuous chronicle of expansion. In 1868 a new five-story building was erected, opening in September of that year. Important additions were made in 1875, 1878, 1881, 1887, 1896, 1898, 1901 and 1902. Since the latter date several outside service buildings had been added until, at the beginning of 1928 before Strawbridge & Clothier had disclosed their plans for the great new store in the city and the Main Line Store at Ardmore, the buildings occupied were as follows:

When the main store building had grown to more than twelve acres of floor area, with the outside service buildings, containing about the same amount of space, Strawbridge & Clothier came to a realization that facilities so added could no longer be depended upon to provide for future increase in business, and that the store which had been a landmark of Philadelphia's retail centre for more than sixty years, should be replaced by a great modern store on the same site, to serve the generations to come.

Demolition of the Market and Eighth Streets corner began on January 6, 1930, and erection of the steel work on March 15. This section will be completed next autumn, and the final unit in the autumn of 1931. The cost of the new city store, including new fixtures, will be approximately $10,000,000. It will be regarded as a worthy contribution to Philadelphia's developments, as well as a distinct advance in store construction and convenience.

New Strawbridge & Clothier Store Embodies Latest Developments in Architectural Features

Shopping facilities heretofore to be found only in the largest American cities have been brought to many Philadelphia suburbs with the opening of the Strawbridge & Clothier Main Line Store at Ardmore last Monday.

Innovations in the method of grouping many individual shops and salons under one roof have been incorporated in the new store and in this respect it will probably attract nation-wide attention.

There were no formal ceremonies in connection with the opening, but many county, borough and township officials, heads of trade organization and leaders in the financial, business and professional life of virtually all the Main Line communities visited and inspected the store on its first day and through the week.

The Main Line Store serves the ever-increasing population of the great network of suburbs in Montgomery, Delaware and Chester Counties and beyond, as well as the western section of Philadelphia County. Its opening is simultaneous with reports of the 1930 census showing the amazing growth of this section in the last decade.

To hundreds of thousands of residents in the metropolitan area the store will be within easy reach by train, trolley and bus and it is expected to appeal particularly to motorists desirous of avoiding the more congested city traffic. Parking space right outside the store doors and nearby is virtually unlimited.

The store is located at Montgomery Avenue and St. James Place, Ardmore, occupying a prominent block of ground adjacent to the Ardmore Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad and within easy walking distance of the Ardmore trolley terminal and of all bus lines.

The building, consisting of 4 floors and a mezzanine covering an area of 90 feet by 110 feet, is well set back from Montgomery Avenue and has a flood of sunlight from windows on all four sides, supplemented by the most modern system of semi-indirect lighting.

The exterior of the building follows the modernistic development of architecture, with plain surfaces, vertical lines and ornamentation in low relief. The walls are of Indiana limestone with a Deer Island granite base harmonizing with the color of the limestone. All windows above the first floor are of metal, painted a soft green.

The main entrance on Montgomery Avenue carries up through the mezzanine floor, giving the entrance embrasure a height of two floors. The doors are of bronze elaborately modeled and chased and are framed with yellow, crimson and peach colored marble. Above the doorway are four panels carved in low relief—the Eagle, as an emblem of the nation, the Owl, representing wisdom, and two figures of the native American Indian, one showing an Indian beating a drum as a call to assembly, and the other an Indian with a tablet, symbolizing a new era. On two pylons on either side of the entrance are panels featuring the "Seal of Confidence" long associated with the Strawbridge & Clothier establishment. There are two other entrances, one from St. James Place on the east and the other from St. George Place on the south.

Above the show windows, framed in bronze, there is a carved band of ornaments in low relief of Egyptian and Greek influence. This ornamentation is carried around the entire building.

The interior of the building has been designed on somewhat more modernistic lines than the exterior. Emphasizing this trend on the main floor are three great chandeliers of graduated cylindrical design with translucent white glass trimmed with aluminum and iron.

The central portion of the main floor carries up through the mezzanine. From any one of the three entrances there is a vista of the entire floor with no obstructing columns. Actually there are four interior columns to carry the spans of the steel structure, but these columns are so utilized in the division of the floor area into individual shops that they seem not to exist. This is one of the noteworthy store-planning achievements in interior arrangement.

The mezzanine balconies and a broad central stairway from the main floor to the lower main floor have wrought iron railings with insets and rosettes of aluminum. The stairs and floor are of marble and all woodwork is of light toned walnut. The walls are plastered in a warm cream tone, with a slightly rough surface. Modeled ornamental plaster panels are set in the walls.

Grouped around the wide central aisle of the main floor and opening out onto this aisle, are various departments, each giving the effect of an individual specialty shop. These departments are devoted to gloves, hosiery, stationery, umbrellas, women's neckwear, leather goods, women's and children's shoes, handkerchiefs, toilet goods, jewelry, silverware, women's and children's underwear, lingerie, negligees, and robes; also men's shorts and furnishings.

The mezzanine floor, with attractive balconies and alcoves, has been designed in a manner to make it particularly appealing to women. Here is located, in addition to an interior decorating studio, one of the most complete and modern beauty shops in the Philadelphia district. Along one of the balconies is a line of manicure tables and beyond and parallel with

Store Is Climax of Great Development

Beautiful Business Section Due to Vision of Suburban Company

UNDER UNIFORM PLAN

The opening of the Strawbridge and Clothier branch store in Ardmore marks the greatest step in the plans of a group of men charged with the development of this new north-side shopping section.

The land on which this development is rising was formerly known as the Dixon tract. When it was sold the hopes of many residents that it might remain a park-like area were dispelled. Announcement of the type of buildings to be erected, however, soon aroused widespread interest.

The story of this group of buildings has been one of planned and controlled development from the outset. Uniform architectural plan, wide streets, and carefully selected stores have been the rules under which the development has proceeded.

The owners and promoters incorporated in the fall of 1927, under the name of the Suburban Company, and took over the tract, which had been purchased by a syndicate. In order to control the growth of the section they sold one piece of property, the site of the Counties Title and Trust Company with the stores adjoining. In all other cases construction was made for the tenants, including the largest tenant—Strawbridge and Clothier.

The bank building, the post office, the Bell Telephone offices, were rapidly completed. The large stores for the A. & P. and American Stores Company were occupied last fall, at which time a group of smaller stores were finished. Construction of the Strawbridge and Clothier building was begun at that time.

From the very beginning a correlated development has been assured by the employment of one firm of architects and one firm of general contractors. The firm of Dreher and Churchman have designed and supervised the construction of all the buildings; A. L. Fretz and Son have handled the actual construction, with a carefully chosen group of sub-contractors.

C. W. Churchman has performed most of the actual designing, and Frederick W. Dreher, senior member of the firm, has been constantly on the ground, carrying out the multiplicity of details. David A. Fretz, of the contracting firm, has tirelessly carried out the specifications. The result in the new store, as in all other parts of the development, has been a building of masterful construction and permanently pleasing design.

The Suburban Company has planned not only the buildings, but the type of stores to occupy them. An effort has been made to secure tenants representing diverse lines of business, supplementing each other with a view to offering the greatest service to the community. The result has been that many applications for store space have been refused, and that each unit in the development is of the highest type.

these are ten booths for individual beauty treatments. The decorations, furnishings and equipment of this department represent the "last word" in beauty shops. Beyond this section is a hair-cutting shop with nine chairs, six for women and three for children. The woodwork is a combination of maple and walnut, trimmed with silver.

On this floor also is a women's lounge with telephone booths and writing desks. Off the mezzanine is an open-air terrace with a red-tiled floor on which will be displayed porch, lawn and garden furniture, furnishings and appliances.

The two floors above the mezzanine are notable for their arrangements of salons. Immediately in front of the three elevators on each of these floors is a spacious foyer, opening out into individual salons so placed that there is both the opportunity to select at once any individual salon and to readily pass from one to another.

The second floor is given over to women's, misses' and juniors' outdoor apparel—coats, dresses, sports wear, millinery and furs. The design of the floor is not only artistic, but practical, with ample number of fitting rooms and facilities for carrying the merchandise stocks.

The third floor is occupied by salons for infants' apparel, nursery furniture, girls' apparel, boys' clothing and furnishings, corsets, maids' uniforms, daytime frocks and aprons.

On the lower main floor, which has the advantage of natural light and ample ventilation, are the piece goods departments—silks, cottons, linens—as well as draperies, blankets, notions, Vogue patterns and homewares.

On all floors the stucco coloring of the walls is harmonized with the woodwork and equipment. Besides the absence of any obstruction by columns on the various floors there is also a remarkable concealment of all heating, ventilating and utilities equipment such as pipes, ducts and conduits. Throughout are numerous heating registers and ventilators, but these are artfully hidden. Through the ventilating system 1,500,000 cubic feet of fresh air is forced into the lower floors and the same amount is drawn from the building every hour and there are five changes of air each hour.

The three elevators are of the Otis micro-drive, self-leveling safety type. The elevators on the ground floor are of a special design made possible by a new photographic process that gives a natural wood finish to metal and are the first doors of the kind to be erected in Pennsylvania.

The mechanical plant located in the basement includes boilers operated by automatic oil burners, equipment for filtering and refrigerating drinking water, a specially designed incinerator and automatic pumps to guard against moisture, condensation and other hazards in space below the street level. A parcel chute from each floor leads to the receiving room in the basement.

Dreher and Churchman were the architects for the building.

In connection with the opening of the Main Line Store, Strawbridge & Clothier have introduced for the first time in Philadelphia a new type of identification plate for charge customers. It contains in raised metal type the name and address of the customer. When purchasing, the customer presents the plate to the sales person. It is placed in a little machine which prints the name and address on the sales check, thus eliminating the possibility of error.

The store was open on Monday and Tuesday and will be open this Saturday, May 17, from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. These evening openings apply for the first week only.

ment of the Main Line store is the same as the Philadelphia store. The Strawbridge & Clothier officials are Morris L. Clothier, Herbert J. Tily, Isaac H. Clothier, Jr., Robert E. Strawbridge, Frederic H. Strawbridge, Francis R. Strawbridge, Howard Cooper Johnson, John Jackson and George K. Bartle. Bertrand C. Burlingame is local manager of the new store and Morton Atwater is assistant manager. The greater part of the sales force has been taken from the Philadelphia store and practically all the employees of the new store live in the Main Line district.

Employ Special Officer For Shopping District

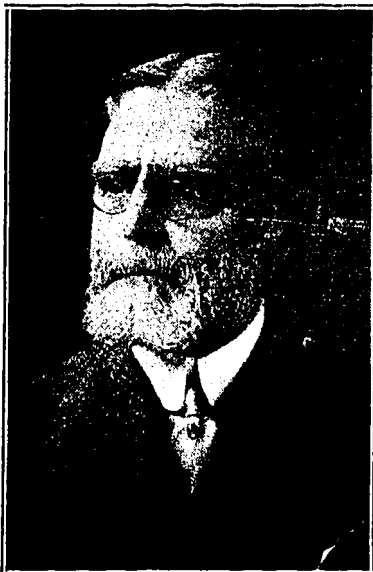

The Suburban Company, owners of the Montgomery Avenue business development, have employed a special police officer to serve the shoppers at that point. The installation of the policeman was coincident with the opening of the Strawbridge and Clothier store.

Arrangements were made with Superintendent of Police Charles P. Smith to supply the officer, on duty every day from 9 to 5. His duties are to assure the safety and comfort of the patrons, and to supervise parking in the large space available for cars. He is a regular member of the Lower Merion force, reporting in the usual way to the police station.

Superintendent Smith co-operated to the fullest extent in the task of handling the great throngs coming to the store for its opening week. Four policemen were on duty early Monday morning and remained in charge to handle the cars. Their instructions were to remain on the scene until the traffic problem had adjusted itself.

Ramsey Played Big Part

William H. C. Ramsey, of Bryn Mawr, played a big part in the construction of Strawbridge and Clothier's Main Line store. His concern supplied the building materials the sub-contractors used in the walls and floors, masonry and bricklaying, plastering, foundations, etc.

In addition he supplied the lumber used in scaffolding and form building. He was called upon to perform remarkable feats of delivery of materials in order to expedite the completion of the building.

Primary Election is Tuesday, May 20.

By Far the BEST—

for a Quarter of a Century

In 1903 our business was first started, and since that time we have installed the plumbing in the better grade buildings in Philadelphia and the suburban vicinity. Contractors have chosen us for this responsible work for the simple reason that they would have nothing but the best material used in the construction of their buildings.

Now after twenty-seven years of installing the best plumbing and heating systems in many of the fine buildings of Philadelphia, we were selected to equip the new Strawbridge & Clothier building in Ardmore with plumbing and heating devices.

Truly one can look back on this record of accomplishments and be proud of the standing that we have won among the builders as plumbing and heating contractors that use the very best materials, no matter how small or how large the job may be.

Narberth Victor in Practice Ball Game

Three-Time Champions Open Season With U. of P. Veterans

NEW FACES IN LINEUP

By John Uberti

Playing with a nine including many new faces in a practice game Saturday, Gene Davis' 1929 Main Line Champions and Philadelphia Suburban title holders made a relentless assault on the Rev. Jack Hart's U. of P. Veterans to quell a threatening disturbance and outscore the visitors 13 runs to 8.

Both clubs playing their first game of the season gave the 400 fans an unusual variety of diamond display in the two-hour contest, which was replete with almost every possible play in baseball save balks. Bludgeon prowess was the most conspicuous of these, Narberth outhitting the collegiates by only one blow, which was officially registered at eleven. Transgressions afield numbered eight, five of which were charged to local players.

Free passes to first base were as numerous as the falling leaves of the autumnal season. This feature is the direct source by which the Main Line Monarchs emerged triumphantly and which proved detrimental to the mighty Shober. Pitcher Shober, who covered the tee for the full nine innings, allowed the Davismen eight passes, which on two occasions permitted local baserunners to amble home with unearned runs when Shober continued to untether the maximum number of balls.

Narberth, on the other hand, figured prominently on the mound when three hurlers representing the local pitching staff amassed ten strike-outs. Summarily depicting the exploits of this game, passes by Shober and ingenuity on the pinnacle by Narberth twirlers gave the home club its partially unearned victory of the infant season.

In the absence of four of Narberth's regulars, the Main Line Leaders sent afield an unfamiliar cast in Keibler, guardian of the keystone base, a former member of the West Philadelphia Professionals, and Hager, left-fielder for Haverford College, who lives on Merion Avenue, Narberth. McKee and Schofield are Manager Davis' future prospects for his pitching staff. Kearney, erstwhile of the Newtown Square Club, is also trying for a position on the local outfit.

Schofield went to the peak to assume the responsibilities at the start and blanked the university stars for the first two innings, while the Davismen got off to a prolific start in the home half of the first and second by bunching five hits, five passes and taking advantage of a wild heave to net six runs.

Hager, lead-off man, started out with a walk and Powell fell on strikes. Fleck, Thomas and Kneibler all went to first by virtue of Shober's unsteady arm, Hager counting when Connell failed to grip an assist from the infield intended to run him down at the disc. Bob Martin lofted to leftfield.

In the second frame the Narberth club coined the runs that made victory almost a certainty but when the Collegians came through with three in the same half and one in the fifth and two in the sixth, a noticeable transfer of players took effect.

In the seventh frame, the Narberth pilot introduced to the fans, the idols of local baseball, that famous battery of Graham & Burns, whose presence on the peak and behind the mask accounted for the three championships won in 1929. A great ovation was extended to these two lads as they took up their respective duties for two innings to bring back to the home fans reminiscences of that incomparable season of 1929, undoubtedly the greatest year of baseball in Narberth since the inauguration of the Main Line League eighteen years ago.

The veterans only had two more markers to show during Graham's performance on the hill, while three in the sixth and another trio in the subsequent inning made victory a certainty for the pachyderms of the diamond.

Berry, of the visitors singled but Connell blanked. Murphy made first with leisure when Kneibler fumbled his comber and Purnell and Ziegler, who carried Jack Hart's mace, both were issued free tickets, Berry walking home unmolested.

The home talent found Shober easy for three bingles to tab as many more points in the seventh. Rubincan was delegated to bat for Powell and fled to centre. Humphreys tripped to deep centre and scored off Fleck's one-base ply, the latter being nipped off the keystone attempting to stretch the single, Ziegler to Murphy. Thomas hit sharply to Bendere, who failed to scoop the swift grounder and Kneibler again packed the paths by strolling. Martin singled deep to empty the bases but was run down between first and second when he took too great a lead for the keystone, Berry being credited with the out and assist, having run him down unassisted.

Be a Pal to the Boy, Pastor Tells Clubmen

In an address before the Main Line Kiwanis Club at its weekly dinner meeting Tuesday, the Rev. A. C. Kan-zinger, of Ardmore, spoke to the members on the topic, "Being a Pal to the Boy." He stressed that fathers should exercise patience, love and sympathy in relations with their sons. Edward Ehmman, president, was chairman.

Many Protest on Chinese Laundry

A gathering stream of protests has arisen in the business section of the borough against the establishment of a Chinese laundry at 235 Haverford Avenue.

That Council is unable to take any action in the matter and has no jurisdiction was made clear following the reading of a communication with seventy-eight signatures attached protesting against the laundry at the meeting of the Borough Fathers Monday night.

In the informal discussion among Councilmen it was pointed out that the disposition of the property was up to the owner of the building and the selection of tenants rested solely with him.

Six building permits were granted by the Building Inspector during April at a cost of $20 for operations estimated to cost $2930. Forty-six inspections were made of building operations during the month, eight operations being completed.

Information Available

A telephone has been installed in the Bohlen-Phillips anti-prohibition headquarters at 222 Haverford Avenue, next to Davis'. The number is Narberth 2730. Someone will be in attendance at the "Wet" headquarters at all times up to the primaries to give information relative to the Bohlen-Phillips ticket.

Candidates Air Views Before Merion Audience

While the addresses followed generally the same trends that were expressed recently at a meeting of the Montgomery County League of Women Voters, a few new ideas were brought forth. Mrs. J. Alden Tift, of Merion, presided.

Speakers in order of their appearance were:

Benjamin H. Ludlow, Republican State Senate candidate: He urged citizens to vote dry and for him or to vote wet and for Burd P. Evans because Senator James S. Boyd had declined to commit himself on the Prohibition question. Later he said that it was unlikely the liquor problem would be acted upon by the State legislative bodies during the next four years. He stated that it was his opinion and the opinion of both the Pinchot and the Brown-Davis factions that the time had come to throw out the present county organization.

Burd P. Evans, Republican State Senate candidate: Mr. Evans did not reciprocate Mr. Ludlow's friendly gesture. He stated that Mr. Ludlow was a little too erratic and independent for him and that the Ardmore man had better shake off the support of Charles Ambler, alleged Vire representative in Montgomery County, if he wished to avoid being accused of seeking Vire organization aid. Mr. Evans, a wet in this campaign, talked at some length about the rights of individuals being violated by the Eighteenth amendment.

Anton E. Wohler, Narberth, Democratic candidate for Assemblyman: The most enjoyable talk of the evening and a presentation of the most clear-cut platform, including better workmen's compensation and pension laws, sanitary water supplies and repeal of the Prohibition laws.

Maurice W. Sloan, Jr., Wynnewood, Republican candidate for Assemblyman: An echo of Mr. Ludlow. Also a dry.

Joseph P. Golden, Cynwyd, Democrat, wet, for State Senator: Mr. Golden nearly caused the prostration of several present by advocating the annexation of these fair suburbs by Philadelphia because of the salutary effect Main Line representatives in Council would have upon metropolitan politics.

Fred C. Peters, Ardmore, candidate for re-election as Assemblyman from this district: Mr. Peters, who seeks a third term, is at present on the public roads, counties and townships, and education committees as well as five other committees in the legislature. He asserted that he had voted against two measures favored by the county organization because they were not to the best interests of his constituents. (This was in answer to recent statements that the county leader dictated every vote of all Montgomery representatives). Mr. Peters pointed out, however, that through the political strength and experience of Johnson representatives it was possible to obtain favorable legislation and appropriations for this community that could not be gained by independents. He urged that the voters return all the present candidates for the Senate and House on the organization ticket.

State Senator James S. Boyd, candidate for re-election: He spoke much along the same line as Mr. Peters, told how he had voted on various measures, and asserted that appropriations for schools and highways was the biggest thing in Pennsylvania politics. The share of these funds to be obtained for the county, he said, depended upon the business ability and political strength of the men in office at Harrisburg. He made no reference to his opponents.

Mrs. Margaret R. Town, Narberth, Pinchot candidate for State Committeewoman: Mrs. Town does not think so much of the county organization or of Montgomery County's representatives at Harrisburg.
